

The London Marriott Grosvenor Square launches 25 events across 25 days to celebrate quarter of a century milestone

London, 2 August 2010 – The London Marriott Grosvenor Square, situated in the heart of Mayfair and one of London's most stylish hotels, is celebrating its 25th anniversary in 2010. Originally built as a stately townhouse, a multi-million pound refurbishment has seen the hotel reinvented to become an elegantly styled urban retreat.

As part of the 25th anniversary celebrations, the London hotel will be hosting 25 events across 25 days which will be open to both hotel guests and non-residents. These carefully tailored experiences will include wine and chocolate tasting, book clubs, photography master-classes and talks with experts discussing everything from travel to dating.

The first event will take place mid August and be hosted by Harry, the head concierge at the hotel who is also celebrating 25 years at the hotel. He will talk guests through the history of the hotel over afternoon tea. Events will run through until the end of October 2010. Each event will be hosted in the luxurious surroundings of the hotel and will be free to attend for up to 25 people.

From a carefully styled interior to a classic 5-star service, The London Marriott Grosvenor Square has spent the last quarter of a century perfecting the art of luxury for its many and varied guests ranging from businessmen to royalty and family holiday-makers to A-List celebrities. In addition to the contemporary bedrooms, guests at the hotel also have the opportunity to sample French cuisine with Asian influences at the award-winning maze Restaurant, created by world-famous chef Gordon Ramsay.
