

The London Marriott Grosvenor Square's 25th year sees the appointment of three new executive personnel

Leading London Hotel welcomes new General Manager and two new Directors

London, September 10 2010 - The London Marriott Grosvenor Square, situated in the heart of Mayfair and one of London's most stylish hotels, is celebrating its 25th anniversary in 2010. This year also sees the appointment of three new executive personnel, including John Hazard who has taken on the role of General Manager, Georgina Evagora as Director of Sales & Marketing and Moira Azzopardi who is as the new Director of Revenue Strategy.

Prior to joining the London Marriott Grosvenor Square, John held the position of General Manager for the Bristol Royal Marriott where he showed impressive Sales leadership during the economic downturn. John has also worked with other leading hotel brands such as Comfort Inn, Choice Hotels and Premier Lodge. John has taken up his new position as General Manager and his broad knowledge of the hotel industry will be greatly welcomed in this new role.

Georgina's experience in the hospitality industry has given her a wealth of experience with roles at Emirates Airlines, JW Marriott Dubai, Marriott Marble Arch as well as part of the opening teams for Renaissance Chancery Court and Marriott Executive Apartments, Dubai. Having been awarded the Prestigious Marriott Chairman's Circle award and the Presidents Circle Award twice, Georgina's appointment is a positive step forward for the Sales and Marketing team at the London Marriott Grosvenor Square.

Moira Azzopardi started her career in the US and joined the London Marriott Marble Arch in 2000 before moving to the London Marriott Grosvenor Square in 2007 as an Inventory Manager. Following this, Moira enjoyed a brief period with Hilton hotels before returning in July 2010 to be the new Director of Revenue Strategy.

Commenting on his new appointment, John Hazard said: "I'm delighted to have been given the opportunity to join one of London's leading hotel's as the new General Manager. I hope that the hotel will benefit from my previous experience and I look forward to working alongside both Georgina and Moira during my time here.”
